

All faithful Christians are in a real sense missionaries. Those who convey the Good News of God's love and forgiveness to others near and far, carry the missionary spirit within them.

A Church Planting Mission

Missionaries who are a part of the Lay Missionary Planting Network come from many places and backgrounds. They feel:

- † The vast need to serve the mission field in their own backyard
- † A special call to reach this mission field by starting something new.

People Reaching People, in Partnership with Path 1 Lay Missionary Planting Network, is designed with a simple idea in mind: equipping gifted and called people to engage in planting new faith communities either as leaders or as part of a team that helps start new churches that reach new people to grow God's reign on earth.

Over the course of 12-18 months, participants in the planting network experience a community of believers who are:

- † Committed to discern God's will for their ministry
- † Supported by mentors and teachers who have experience with planting new congregations and determined with God's help, to find better ways of evangelizing the new U.S.

People Reaching People participants experience, learn and grow in the areas of:

- † Spiritual disciplines of prayer, worship and study in the Wesleyan tradition
- † Reading & evangelizing the mission field
- † Preaching & teaching
- † Pastoral responsibilities in the United Methodist system
- † Discipling & mentoring leaders
- † Growing & multiplying ministries
- † Christian stewardship
- † Creating ministry action plans
